The Kingdom of Hungary as Prison of Nations?

New Approaches to the Nationality Question
(1867–1918)

Tuesday, 11. November
10:30 am

Collegium Hungaricum Vienna
1020 Wien Hollandstraße 4

10.30 Opening remarks

10.45 – 12.30 Panel 1

10.45 Dr. László LAJTAI, Thomas Molnar Institute for Advanced Studies, Eötvös József Research Centre, Ludovika University of Public Service, Budapest:
A watershed moment and vantage point in testing loyalities: the clash between patriotism and ethnic solidarities in the parliamentary debate on the 1868 draft law on ethnic equality

11.05 Dr. Vlad POPOVICI, Department of History and Archaeology, Faculty of History and Philosophy, Babeş-Bolyai University, Cluj:
Politics and civic engagement in the Romanian national movement from Hungary (1867 to 1914)

11.25 Prof. Dr. Iván HALÁSZ, Ludovika University of Public Service, Faculty of Public Governance and International Studies (Budapest), P. J. Šafárik University, Faculty of Public Administration (Košice):
The Slovak Identity Forms in old Hungary before 1918

11.45 Discussion

12.30 Lunch break

Collegium Hungaricum
Wien

14.00 – 15.45 Panel 2

14.00 Dr. Iván BERTÉNYI, Jr., Collegium Hungaricum Wien:
The number of non-Magyar MPs during the Dualist era. Some remarks on the example of the Banat region

14.25 Dr. Ovidiu Emil IUDEAN, Academic Cultural Heritage Department, Babeș-Bolyai University of Cluj-Napoca:
Contested or Distinguished? Romanian Governmental Representatives in the Hungarian Parliament (1881–1918)

14.45 Dr. Kristian JERIĆ, Department of History, Faculty of Philosophy, University of Belgrade:
Serb Members of Parliament of the Governing Parties

15.05 Discussion
15.45 Coffee break

16.00 – 17.05 Panel 3

16.00 Prof. Dr. Goran VASIN, Department of History, University of Novi Sad:
Wisdom and Loyalty – The Serbian Church Elite in Hungary 1867–1918

16.20 Dr. Barna ÁBRAHÁM, Eötvös Loránd University, Faculty of Humanities, Department of Romanian Philology:
Grigoriu Moldovan's efforts for Hungarian–Romanian reconciliation

16.40 Discussion

17.05 – 18.20 Panel 4

17.05 Dr. Alexander MAXWELL, Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand:
Non-Magyar "Hungarian" Nationalism in History & Historiography.

17.25 Dr. Ágnes BERETZKY, Institute of English Studies, Károli Gáspár University of the Hungarian Reformed Church, Budapest:
A Faraway Champion of the Oppressed: An Assessment of Bjørnstjerne Bjørnson's Pro-Slovak Campaign (1904-1908)

17.45 Dr. habil. Géza JESZENSZKY, former Foreign Minister of Hungary, Budapest:
From Sympathy and Prestige to Trianon: the Failure to Listen to the Criticism

18:05 Discussion

18.50 Closing remarks